

MOLAND HOUSE

DECEMBER 8, 2018 SATURDAY 6:30-8

President James Monroe will visit the Moland House this December.

He will revisit his experiences during the American Revolution when he joined General Washington's Council of War during August 1777.

This will be President Monroe's first visit since he left the Moland House for the Battle at Brandywine.

James Monroe held more senior public executive offices than any other U.S. president.

"No president did more to expand the U.S. and foster the security of the nation." Pres. John Q. Adams.

Come and join us for a Christmas dinner and enjoy beef tenderloin and stuffed shrimp.
